Frontiers of STEM Learning
Webinar Series

April 20th 2016
High Tech vs Low Tech STEM Programming

If you are having audio problems, please click the “communicate” button at the top of your screen and then click “test audio”
High Tech vs Low Tech

STEM Programming

What’s Right for Your Library?
Introductions

Ashley Kazyaka
Project Manager
Colorado State Library

Keliann Laconte
Professional Development Manager
NCIL

Anne Holland
Public Engagement Manager
NCIL
Why STEM in Libraries?

Historical Context for Your Next Elevator Speech
Major Trends: Overview

Maker

Nature-based

Circulating Materials

All-ages Engagement

Citizen Science
Major Trend: Maker Programming
Major Trend: Nature-based
Major Trend: Circulating Materials
Major Trend: All-ages Programming
Major Trend: Citizen Science
Brainstorming

What’s happening at your library?
What works? What has flopped?
What’s your unique STEM “angle”?
What’s the wrapper for your STEM programming? Especially unfacilitated activities.
Share ideas and get feedback